Desotorow Gallery presents “Transitional Pattern”

SAVANNAH, Ga. –Desotorow Gallery, 2427 De Soto Ave., presents “Transitional Pattern,” textiles and drawings by Andrea Gray, on display September 18-23. An opening reception will be held September 18, 6-9 p.m. Both the exhibition and the reception are free and open to the public.

“Transitional Pattern” examines the perceived boundaries of inside and outside through the layering of drawing, gouache painting, screen printing, laser cutting, computer aided design and digital printing. The works comprising “Transitional Pattern” focus on the life and growth of the Kudzu vine, a plant known for rapidly expanding into and overtaking its surroundings. Gray notes, “In the garden, vines often become the wall, enclosing and emphasizing a space. The wall in my work becomes a space for investigating our need to bring the outside inside.”

Gray is a visual artist with an extensive background in textiles, fashion and design. She is currently pursuing a Master of Fine Arts in Fibers at the Savannah College of Art and Design. More information about Gray and her work can be found at her blog, www.agray.wordpress.com.
